LEAGUE WILL LIVE ASSERTS FRENCH CHIEF GENEVA ENVOY

Departure Of Argentine Party Not Alarming, Says Bourgeois

U. S. STAYS OUT Wilson Refuses Assembly Invitation To Discuss Armaments

(Reuter's Service)
Paris, Dec. 9.—M. Leon Bourgeois, one of the French representatives at the Geneva Assembly, has expressed, in an interview, his faith in the League of Nations.

"We shall finish our task about December 20," he stated; "the League of Nations is here to stay, and you would be committing a grave error if you attached too much importance to the departure of the Argentine delegates."

"The only divergence of opinion between the members of the Assembly is that some of them (and Argentina is a typical example) want to go ahead more quickly, whilst the majority prefer to live in the present structure before considering the question of perfecting it. Thus the League of Nations will work with a will and it is by no means menaced with disruption."

PESTIGE FOR FRANCE

"In the League of Nations France can acquire a prestige which will strengthen her victory. I have, in the name of all the signatories of the Treaty of Versailles, recalled the fact that that treaty was a tangible and that we would add nothing to it by discussion. Here we are working to strengthen all these institutions which form a wise guarantee of peace."

Washington, Dec. 9.—President Wilson has declined the invitation of the League of Nations to send delegates to participate in the discussions of the armaments commission. Mr. Wilson informed the League that inasmuch as the United States was not a member he did not feel justified in appointing a committee for the purpose in question. He declared, however, that the United States was in sympathy with any plan for world disarmament.

Geneva, Dec. 9.—Complete agreement was reached at the Assembly today on the subject of the establishment of permanent financial-economic and transit organizations by the League. The question of a permanent Health Organization was left over until tomorrow.

PROBLEM OF TRANSIT

As regards finance, the Assembly decided that, besides the present Committee of Experts, the League might at any time summon an international conference to constitute a committee of financial-economic matters.

As regards transit and communications, members of the League are sending representatives to the forthcoming general conference on "freedom of communications and transit" at Barcelona. At this conference, a consultative committee on communications will be appointed to sit at Geneva, and eventually advise the Permanent Court of International Law, when constituted, on technical matters.

NOT PRO-GERMAN ACT

Paris, Dec. 9.—Senator Pueyrredon, the head of the Argentine delegation to Geneva, in the course of an interview, denied that the withdrawal of Argentina was a pro-German act. He considered that the League was building on sand if it worked on the present lines.

In his opinion it was not so much a question of admitting Germany to membership of the League as of forcing her to enter. Only thus could Germany's policy be effectively controlled.

Geneva, Dec. 9.—The Technical Organization Committee of the Assembly of the League of Nations has adopted a proposal of the Chinese delegation, that three seats on that body should be reserved to Europe and the United States, and one to Asia and other continents.

$40,000,000 LEAK IN CHINA'S TAXES IS CHARGE MADE

Wine and Tobacco Revenues Security To Be Offered New Consortium

(International News Agency)
Peking, December 7.—The wine and tobacco revenues are the best securities to be offered to the new Consortium for a loan as China is unwilling to mortgage the land tax according to a high authority closely connected with the new Consortium.

That only ten million dollars are collected annually from the wine and tobacco taxes is due to irregularities in the collecting system and not because the rate is too low.

It has been found by thorough investigation that in reality the wine and tobacco merchants in the whole country have to pay out no less than fifty million dollars a year.

If reform is introduced in the collecting system and irregularities be done away with the revenues will be increased five times the present rate, and can be used as securities against a loan of at least one hundred million dollars.

JAP DEMANDS TO STATION TROOPS IN KIRIN REFUSED

(International News Agency)
Peking, Dec. 6.—According to reliable information from diplomatic sources the Japanese Legation has again communicated a note to the Waichiao-pu demanding the demarcation of the Yenchi Circuit in Kirin as a "special area" and the stationing of a joint Sino-Japanese force in Hunchun, Yenchi, Tungling, Wangtung and Huling. Mr. Ohta is said to have also asked the Government to definitely guarantee that China will assume full responsibility for the complete suppression of the hunchun and the Korean revolutionists on the Kirin border.

To this communication the Waichiao-pu has replied to the effect that Chinese territory in Kirin cannot be treated as leased territory in which foreign settlement may be established. The demand for the stationing of Japanese troops in the five districts is also rejected.

The Chinese authorities have further stated that the Government has decided to detail at least two brigades to Hunchun for maintaining the situation there and that China will bear full responsibility for the protection of Japanese life and property in Chinese territory.

BATTLESHIPS TO BLOCK UNDERSEA MENACE, BELIEF

Captain Dewar Admits Huge Craft Are "Costly Nuisance" To Nation

CITES WAR STATISTICS Reply To Admiral Scott Shows Necessity Of Fighting Machines

(Reuter's Service)
London, Dec. 9.—Replying to Admiral Sir Percy Scott (who, in an interview with the Daily Mail, condemned the proposal to build more battleships), Captain Dewar, who served on the Naval War Staff, takes up the cudgels in favor of battleships.

He points out that the German submarines never sank a modern battleship. He admits that the U-boats sank numerous merchantmen, but says they only did so slowly and painfully what half a dozen cruisers with command of the sea would have done in a month.

He contends that if we had had nothing but submarines at the beginning of the war, our commerce would have been swept from the seas in a month, as the Germans were swept off them in a single week.

In Capt. Dewar's opinion much of the success of the submarine was due to our lack of preparation to meet it, and he therefore concludes that, though battleships are an "expensive nuisance," they must remain an integral part of the Navy for many years to come.

JAPANESE READY TO GIVE SHANTUNG BACK TO CHINESE

(Special Cable)
Geneva, Dec. 9.—Mr. Hayashi had the Japanese delegation inform the association that Japan is getting ready to hand back Shantung to China but was unable to get China to open negotiations. The delegation said that the only condition was that Kiaochow shall remain open for trade. It was thought he said that China's refusal to negotiate was due to the military party spreading falsehoods and influencing public opinion.

BIG CONSIGNMENT OF NIPPON ARMS ARRIVES IN CANTON

(International News Agency)
Hongkong, Dec. 5.—The new consignment of Japanese arms and munitions consisting of six mountain guns, eight field guns, twenty-four machine guns, more than seven hundred rifles and three hundred boxes of munitions has just been delivered to Canton by a Japanese agent named Murada. These arms and munitions are purchased by the Kwangtung militaryists for the contemplated expedition against the Kwangsi Party.

Canton, Dec. 4.—A military conference was recently held at the capital of Kwangtung, to discuss measures for resuming a general attack on Kwangtung. Having learned the Kwangsi militaryists' plans General Chen Chu-min has ordered Commander Hsu Chung-chi to bring the first and second divisions and another ten battalions of newly reorganized Defence Guards to Lienkung on the borders to check the advance of the enemy forces.

The first division will act as vanguard and will proceed to Kaokiao. When the main body of the Kwangtung Army arrives the attack on the Kwangsi troops will be commenced.

ARMENIA GOES BOLSHEVIK Forces To Be Disarmed Under Terms Of Agreement At Alexandropol

(Special Cable)
Constantinople, Dec. 9.—From unconfirmed reports, the whole of Armenia has gone Bolsheviki. It is also reported that Soviet Azerbaijan has been ceded to Soviet Armenia. It is expected that Georgia will also adopt Bolshevism.

(French Wireless Service)
Paris, Dec. 9.—The Premier, M. Georges Leygues, and General Gouraud, French High Commissioner in Syria, furnished a joint sitting of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies yesterday with a long explanation of French action in Syria and Cilicia. Their statements made an exceedingly favorable impression on the members of the two committees.

General Gouraud gave an account of the work of the French in Syria and Cilicia. The pacification of Syria had been accomplished without delay, thanks to the excellent discipline of the French troops. At present the situation in Syria was very quiet, he said.

SITUATION IMPROVED

In Cilicia, the situation had equally improved. General Gouraud gave very precise details of the administrative organization of Greater Lebanon and the states of Aleppo and Damascus.

M. de Selves thanked the General for his explanation and expressed the Committee's respect and gratitude for the services he had rendered to France.

The Premier dealt with the political situation. France, he said, had entered Syria because of old tradition, as well as her prestige as a Mediterranean nation, obliged her to do so. The French had entered Cilicia after receiving a mandate to protect the minorities there. The battalions in the country served as a protection for Syria.

WILL CONTROL TURKS

It would be necessary to suppress the Turkish Nationalist movement, and with this end in view, not to revise but to modify the treaty of Sevres and arrive at a peace which would spare the susceptibilities of the Muslims. The Premier was convinced that before long an agreement would be reached for giving Turkey an honorable peace.

Referring to the Greek problem in response to a question from M. Antonin Dabont, M. Leygues confirmed report of an understanding by the terms of which Great Britain, France and Italy canceled the loan of four hundred million drachmas previously granted to the Greek Government.

Paris, December 9.—It is announced that the peace treaty between Armenia and the Turkish Nationalists was signed at Alexandropol on the night of December 2.

By it, the territory of Armenia will include only the Erivan and Gotscha Lake regions, without Kars or Alexandropol.

Armenia must surrender all arms to the Turks, with the exception of a small number of machine-guns and pieces of artillery.

WILSON IN CALL TO AMERICA FOR CHINA FAMINE AID

President Appeals To People; Big Working Committee Is Named

BUILD REFUGEE CAMP HERE Leading Chinese Merchants Plan To Provide For Homeless Victims

(Special Cable)
Washington, Dec. 9.—President Wilson called on the American people to contribute to a fund to relieve the appalling distress in China resulting from the famine in several provinces.

A committee of 130 was appointed by the President to take immediate action. Mr. Thomas W. Lamont was designated as Chairman and Acting-Secretary of State Davis as Treasurer.

REFUGEE CAMP HERE

A refugee camp for the handling of 500 famine refugees from North China will be established in Chapel by leading merchants of the district. The tract of land measuring some 160 mow situated at Pui Kai Chiao, Chai, owned by the Benevolent Society of Chapel will be utilized for this purpose.

All refugees from Chihli, Shantung, Shensi, Honan and Shensi who are recognized as famine refugees by guilds or members of the gentry of these provinces will be admitted to the camp, which will provide temporary food and lodging for five months.

By the end of this time, arrangements will be made with the Ministry of Communications to give the refugees free passes to return to their homes to be employed in agricultural work. During their stay in the camp, with the exception of the old and the children, they will be recommended by the committee for work in the local mills.

The maintenance of the camp will be purely by voluntary subscription.

WILL TAKE PROPOSAL

(Special Cable)
Peking, December 6.—In order to secure funds for the relief of the famine sufferers in North China the Government is contemplating the issue of domestic bonds. In this connection some preliminary measures have been drawn up. The loan will be floated under the supervision of the Ministries of Finance and of the Interior and the Famine Relief Department, and will be secured on the revenues to be brought by the imposition of a tax per province in the provinces.

Each province shall pay these bonds in proportion to the amount of revenues to be collected from the imposition of extra tax in that province which will be deposited with the Government banks for the payment of capital and interest due on the bonds.

SEEK BANKS' AID

The imposition of this extra tax will be enforced for one year and the loan will be entirely repaid within three years from the date of issue.

As money is needed immediately for relieving the sufferers while the collection of the tax takes much time, the Government plans to make arrangements with the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications for an advance to meet immediate requirements. It is understood that the Ministry of Finance, Ministry of the Interior and the Famine Relief Department are consulting the bank authorities and that special delegates will be deputed to the provinces to take up the matter with the Chiefs of the Provincial Financial Bureau and the native bankers.

Peace Between Ireland And England Seen

Arthur Henderson

ARTHUR HENDERSON (Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 9.—Mr. Arthur Henderson, addressing his constituents at Hough Green, near Wigan, said his visit to Ireland with the Labor Party's delegation had convinced him of the possibility of peace between England and Ireland. He appealed to the Government to negotiate an armistice.

He had assurances that, if this were arranged, the influence of the Catholic hierarchy and Irish Labor leaders would be used to prevent lawlessness and violence while negotiations between representatives of the British Government and the Irish leaders were proceeding.

Hough Green, Dec. 9.—Arthur Henderson returning from an inspection trip to Ireland with the Labor Commission said in a speech:

"If British state-smanship is not equal to the opportunity I am convinced that the people's situation in Ireland is bound to arise."

Mr. Henderson declared it was impossible to exaggerate the conditions in Ireland.

London, Dec. 9.—Lloyd George will make an important statement concerning Ireland in Commons on Friday. He refused to divulge further details.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Mrs. MacSwiney told the investigating commission that the hunger strike story was an attempt of the Irish Republicans to gain the country's freedom. She declared: "England shall have no peace and the world shall have no peace until our Republic is recognized."

AMERICAN-JAPANESE WAR MUST BE OF NIPPONESE MAKING, DECLARES KAHN

California Congressman Asserts There Is Little Danger Of Conflict In Present Times But Recommends Universal Training Policy

(Special Cable)
Washington, Dec. 9.—Discussing the Japanese question freely and frankly from a carefully prepared address in the House, Congressman Julius Kahn, of California, and Chairman of the House Military Committee, declared that America hoped to always avoid war and that if the statesmen, publicists, politicians, agitators and demagogues of Japan "really wanted war with the United States they would be the ones to bring it on, not Americans."

Mr. Kahn said he knew he voiced "the earnest hope and wish of every patriotic American that peace between the two countries may continue perpetually but the world only recently learned that we were not too proud to fight nor afraid to fight when forced into war."

The Congressman re-affirmed his belief that a universal training policy was the best safeguard for the country, saying:

"I've no fear that there will be a war between Japan and the United States in my lifetime, nor even the lifetime of my sons and I am thoroughly satisfied that if my country remains measurably prepared there will be no difficulty between the two nations at any time."

"Students of international law everywhere recognize the right of any nation to regulate immigration as it deems best. Constant agitation regarding these matters is being maintained by our neighbors across the Pacific and the final effort of such a propaganda of agitation undoubtedly is to instill a pronounced hatred of America and Americans among the masses of the Japanese, which is decidedly unfortunate. Most serious conditions may result and grave difficulties arise between heretofore friendly nations."

JAP BIG GUNS LOST IN OCEAN AS STORM RAGES

Twenty-Nine Vessels Sunk And Warships Torn From Mooring By Gale

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Tokio, December 9.—Tuesday's storm caused extensive damage to the naval station at Kure, breaking down 100 feet of breakwater, sinking 29 vessels laden with pig iron and coal, and tearing from their moorings and stranding the destroyers Isosami and Ayanami.

A landslide in the neighborhood of a naval gun shed broke down an embankment, causing several 12-inch guns to topple into the sea. The damage is estimated at Y. 500,000.

The storm was most severe elsewhere. A naval tug proceeding from Tokuyama to Kure was sunk off Shimizu; the fate of her crew is unknown. The Onaka Shosen Kaisha steamer Aichi Maru, while on her way from Onaka to Nagoya, was stranded near Shirasaki. The crew and passengers were saved in the lifeboats.

BRITAIN'S TRADE GROWS RAPIDLY

Miners Strike Fails To Check Commerce In November, Report

(Reuter's Service)
London, Dec. 8.—Despite the fact that the miners' strike had not been settled when the month began, British foreign trade during November was excellent.

The Board of Trade returns show exports to the value of £119,259,000 as compared with £87,000,000 for November last year, while the imports were valued at £144,250,000, as against £143,500,000.

The imports of raw materials fell by £10,000,000 but those of manufactures increased by £12,000,000. Exports of coal fell heavily, but there was an increase of £34,000,000 in manufactured goods included in cotton manufactures and £1,250,000 in woolen manufactures.

The value of both imports and exports for the eleven months of the present year are already largely in excess of the value of the whole of last year. The exports for the 11 months are £1,238,000,000, as compared with £798,000,000 for the whole of last year, and the imports are £1,794,000,000 as against £1,626,000,000.

The re-exports of foreign and colonial merchandise for November were £13,000,000, as compared with £20,250,000 in November of last year, and the re-exports for the 11 months £269,750,000 as compared with £138,000,000.

Beethoven Concert

Of such a man as Beethoven the paraphrase may be permitted that if he had not been given to the world he would have to have been invented.

Beethoven was born at Bonn, December 14, 1770. Last night's concert therefore commemorated within four days this event.

A festival of his works would include the Ninth Symphony, Mass in D, and Leonora Overture, the later quartets, and piano sonatas. Without the chorus and orchestra for such a celebration the artists Mr. Harry Ore and Mr. Siroldo drew up a program worthy of the occasion and of Beethoven in his main items.

The last of all the piano sonatas and the Violin Concerto represent the composer as adequately as possible. Mr. Ore rightly brings to his playing of Beethoven a strict but not rigid attention to steadiness of tempo and rhythm together with a clean execution and a tone that never overpowers the capacity of the piano (not on this occasion a large one). The Sonata, as well as the accompaniment to the concerto, were always clear, broad and well-defined. Rubinstein's "Turkish March" transcription makes good piano music, in which the player obtained a fine long diminuendo. Saint-Saens' transcription does not make music of the "Chorus of Dervishes."

The violin concerto played by Mr. Siroldo began rather as if the player as well as ourselves missed the variety and color of orchestral accompaniment. Mr. Siroldo early conquered this feeling and the two last movements went with conviction and fluency. The players were at their best in the violin sonata in F, Miss Olive sang "Adelaide" acceptably, but the work itself is not of very great interest. Whilst a charming Gavotte for four hands in which Mr. Ore was joined by Miss Smith was said to be only recently ascribed to Beethoven. It might have been left to the credit of almost any fully equipped writer of charming gavottes without serious damage to them or to Beethoven.

A good number of Beethoven enthusiasts exhibited their interest in the performance and their hearty appreciation greeted the artists.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

Having an engagement with an outgoing train at the Shanghai North Station in ten minutes, Tea Li-ching stepped outside his home and wigwagged for a risha. There was a little rapid-fire bargaining and an arrangement was reached whereby Tea was to be delivered at the station with despatch by Sung Ching-hoong, operator of the risha, for the sum of 10 cents, silver, Mex.

They set out, and Tea told the tale later, and as they swung into North Homan Road the motive power seemed to slip into low gear, or develop acute symptoms of locomotor ataxia, or something. At any rate, Tea, by looking at his watch was able to calculate that he and the train were going to miss connections by a considerable space unless something was done. So he shouted to Sung to show a little action. Sung turned his head, smiled affably and cut down his pedalling by about fourteen strides in the minute. Fearing that another request for speed would set his vehicle going in the opposite direction—this is Tea's solemn judgment in the matter—the worried passenger looked anxiously about for aid in hurdling the crisis, and saw a tramcar rapidly approaching from the rear. He shouted for Sung to stop, stepped out of the risha and entered the tramcar. Sung, however, refused to accept the verdict and punched Tea in the nose, fracturing his spectacles and abrading his features—and Tea submitted his face and lenses for inspection by the court.

Sung entered a denial in toto. The facts were, he maintained, that Tea had been angry with him when he failed to violate the speed regulations and had directed a vicious wallop to his nose, making it bleed fluently. He, Sung, had then attempted to hold his assailant and turn him over to a policeman, but he broke away, fell to the pavement and bumped his face and spectacles resoundingly against an adjacent wall, damaging both of the former.

The corroborative testimony was all on Tea's side so the Court took Sung out of service for three days.

Quarreling Governors Of Hupei Declare For Peace

(CHINA PRESS Correspondence)
Hankow, Dec. 6.—The question of civil governor of Hupei which might have been the cause of serious internal disturbance or possibly another civil strife in Central China, has been brought to a peaceful close between military under the captaincy of the Tsuchun, General Wang Chuan-yuan, and the new Civil Governor, Mr. Hsia Shou-kang, a man appointed by Peking by popular vote.

The last trace of opposition on part of the militarists is the resignation and month's temporary sick leave which Tsuchun Wang demanded from the Peking government. Other than this, Tsuchun Wang apparently took no side in the quarrel, although he may be the man behind the curtain in militarist opposition.

General Wong Hui-ching, Metropolitan Garrison Commissioner of Peking, was sent to Hankow by the President to dissuade Tsuchun Wang from resigning his post as Military Governor of Hupei and also Inspector-General of Hupei, Hunan and Kiangsi.

U.S. Treasury Chief Urges Tax Revision

(Reuter's Service)
Washington, Dec. 9.—In his annual report to Congress the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Houston, urges an immediate revision of the nation's tax laws on the basis of an annual levy of $4,000,000,000, for the next four years.

He suggests that the proposed taxation includes: an increased income tax, an increased tax on corporation profits, and increased taxes on a number of commodities, including petrol, motors, tobacco, jewelry and motion pictures.

The report emphasizes the necessity for rigid economy in Government expenditure. It states that between April 24, 1917, and November 15, 1920, the United States advanced $3,531,000,000 to foreign governments, and recommends that the obligations of foreign governments be allowed to extend until June, 1947, and that these governments should be given every opportunity to prepare for payment by whatever arrangement they deem best.

General Hui-ching also interviewed Hsia Shou-kang at Hankow. It is understood that he was very successful in his peace mission to Hupei, as both sides are beginning to show their willingness to co-operate with each other.

Cuba Breaking Records For High Living Costs

(Reuter's Service)
Havana, Dec. 10 (by mail).—American agents, disturbed by the mounting cost of living, ought to come to Cuba. Broadly speaking, prices in Havana are just about double the high mark in top-notch American cities. One cause, according to dealers, is the unprecedented port congestion, apparently with little hope of early clearing, which has resulted in the ruin of hundreds of tons of necessary products.

Whatever the cause, the island is going through a period of high costs, described by papers here as more burdensome than any found elsewhere on the face of the earth.

SUGAR IS HIGH
Even here, where it is produced in sufficient bulk to supply millions elsewhere, sugar retails on the market at about 24 cents a pound. Grape fruit, going to waste in the tons from the trees at New York quotations.

Local cotton, the demand for ready and available cash, and the moratorium, under which banks limit withdrawals to ten percent, have failed to start price reductions in the hope of unloading luxuries to meet weekly pay-rolls.

Until the moratorium ends hotels will not permit patrons to sign bar and cafe checks, a time-honored custom here. Cash is needed and a man pays when he eats.

Conditions in Havana are of little concern to the wealthy element from the States that will be coming here soon by the thousands for the winter and racing season. But for folk of ordinary means, with two weeks for recreation, a big bank account is needed.

HOTEL RATES AVIATE
About the lowest hotel-rate is $7 a day for room and bath. And this is not at the best places, for there are rates much higher, and toward the middle of November, the $7 rooms will fetch $15.

Americans living in Havana pour out a ton of woe to friends from the States.

The women seem to be hit the hardest. Price labels in stores selling men's wear show that a good pair of men's low shoes costs as high as $25.

The rainy season is not ended, and is for a cotton umbrella is a bargain. Flannel trousers are there for $25 and silk shirts for $50. A lot of odds and ends that a man needs cost more than twice the mark at home.

The correspondent saw a Panama hat valued at $450, and the dealer declared that sugar men pay it "without blinking."

EXPENSIVE SMOKES
Cigarettes selling for twenty cents a package at home cost 60 cents here, and for a $2 box of American candy they ask $7. Two-cent American papers, three days old, cost 12 cents. You may get a reasonably fair suit of clothes out of stock for $100. In most cases women's shirt-waists, it was explained, cost three times the home figure. The only exception in the upward trend is the straw hat, the cost of which is about on the American scale.

The only paper money in circulation here is American. The bills are so worn and utterly filthy that a man parts with them rather gladly.

Ministry Of Health Program Is Approved
(Reuter's Service)
London, Dec. 9.—At seven o'clock this morning the House of Commons unanimously carried the third reading of the Ministry of Health Bill, which deals, among other matters, with postwar problems including hospitals, housing extension and lunacy laws.

Numerous amendments were proposed by economists, who considered the measure too costly, and Labor members who wished its scope enlarged. The Government a month ago dropped 13 clauses of the Bill in deference to criticisms of the excessive burden it imposed on local rates.

Only 30 members of the House were present at the end of the debate, and some of them were asleep.

American Red Cross Asks For Clothing

The attention of the local American Community is drawn to the constant and urgent need of the American Red Cross for second-hand clothing, shoes, hats, (for women, children and men) for use in connection with Civilian Relief work of the American Red Cross in Shanghai.

The organization is daily called upon to meet the needs of large numbers of refugees and others and, with the approach of cold weather, it daily becomes more difficult to meet and satisfy the many pressing needs.

Tuchun Wang Threatens To Depart From Hupeh

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)
Hankow, Dec. 10.—Tuchun Wang Chuan-yuan of Hupeh threatens to leave Wuchang and has telegraphed his threat to the Peking Government.

Although the Chinese Chambers of Commerce in Wuchang and Hankow have promised $500,000 to General Wang to disburse the money to the soldiers, the situation is critical.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Hankow, December 9.—There is some feeling of unrest in the native city of Hankow. It is attributed to the strained relations which exist between the military and Civil Governors.

It is feared that the soldiers of the former are being incited to create disturbances, but thus far no outbreak has occurred.

Sun Tuan-fang, commander of the First Division, who is the Military Governor's nominee and locally unpopular with civilians, is reported to have asked the Chamber of Commerce for five lakhs of dollars for the troops.

The remainder of Wu Pei-fu's troops from Honan are reported to have arrived at Wuchang.

the same should be done in Hankow, and requesting that the matter be taken up with the ex-Russian Minister in Peking as soon as possible.

Accordingly the letter was approached and he promised to give instructions to the Russian Consul to withdraw his opposition hitherto shown to the local Chinese authorities. The Diplomat has now received a despatch from the Foreign Office, stating that according to a reply given by the ex-Russian Legation the Russian Consul here is ready to deliver over to the Chinese authorities the administration of the Russian concession on December 10, and ordering the Commissioner to make preparations for taking over the same. It is not believed here that there will be any further unfavorable development in the matter.

SOFTENS CORNS AND CALLUSES LIKE WATER SOFTENS SOAP

"Refreshing to the feet as mountain air to the lungs. Aches, swellings, soreness, tenderness, excessive perspiration, etc., soon had to go," says former sufferer from foot misery, who repeats a famous specialist's advice.

After caustic liquids, cutting, plasters and other temporary expedients had produced great pain but no relief, I consulted a well-known specialist. He explained that callouses and corns are simply hardened, partly dead skin formed by shoe pressure, clogged pores, and poor circulation due to feet being the farthest extremities to which the heart must pump blood. Such growths are without nerves or blood vessels themselves, but they cause the acute misery by pressing on and irritating the extremely sensitive nerve tissues beneath. To refresh the feet, remove callouses and take corns out, roots and all, it is only necessary to rest them in hot salted water. This has no effect whatever on the structure of normal, healthy skin, but it immediately dissolves out the waxy substances from clogged pores; also the oil from hardened skin, and leaves the latter almost as soft as a piece of water-soaked soap. In fact, I was told by the specialist who prescribed salted water that its action on corns and callouses is quite similar to the effect of water on a piece of soap. To prepare the salted water, which is both medicated and oxygenated, simply dissolve in about a gallon of water a handful of the refined Roudel Bath Salts, which is obtainable at little cost from any chemist, this being the registered name by which medical men and chiropodists prescribe the compound.

Note.—Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, are at present in possession of large supplies of Roudel Bath Salts.

Ningpo Missionary Association Meets

(China Press Correspondence)
Ningpo, December 8.—The Ningpo Missionary Association held its bi-monthly meeting at the home of the Baptist Single Ladies last evening. The meeting was addressed by the Rev. Milton Stauffer of the China Continuation Committee who had for his subject, "The Christian Missionary Occupation of Chekiang province." The material he presented was of great interest to all. It stimulated many to wonder if the policy of their Missions was the wisest in view of the facts brought out. Refreshments were served after a brief business meeting.

Sentence Is Given In "Gold Ore" Case

The defendant in the "gold ore" case, Zung Chi-men, was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday on the original charge—that of securing 25 tons of ore by means of worthless checks. On a second charge, that of obtaining 100 piculs of camphor by false pretences, he was sentenced to four months' imprisonment. This term to run concurrently with the other. It was ruled that the ore remain in custody of the Court, to form the subject of a separate application.

Anglo-Russian Trade Agreement Held Up

(Reuter's Service)
London, Dec. 9.—The Times understands that there is no immediate likelihood of an Anglo-Russian trade agreement. The Soviet's representatives in London are making repeated representations to the British Government, but the latter are understood to have made up their minds regarding terms, and it accordingly remains for Moscow to accept if it will.

USUAL WEEK-END BATTLE ON BETWEEN RAIN AND FOOTBALL; DOZEN GAMES ARE SCHEDULED

Two Matches In First League, Seven In Second Division, One Exhibition And Another In College Series Figured If Rain Quits

The first guesser in the world is probably right if he says it will rain this afternoon. A good logical weather man—if he has a forecast for rain today on two fundamental facts. First, it is Saturday. Second, there are a dozen football matches scheduled for this afternoon.

At the best the ground will be soft, slushy or watery as you will, for enough moisture has been collected in Shanghai the past few days via the gravity route to organize a young and healthy ocean.

But anyway the dozen games are scheduled and at least two managers have ordered players to be on the field whether we have good weather or not. And certainly some of the games will be played.

It is an impressive menu that is on the table today for the football diner. Two first-division games and seven second-division matches are announced for the followers of local league teams. And there is one exhibition game. Two college eleven are down for battle and at least one local aggregation will go out of town for a match.

The Rees and the Police are down to tangle at the Police Field while the Football Club and St. Xavier's eleven plan a merry afternoon if that rain will only stop. These are the first league offerings. The second division schedule orders four matches at the Race Course and three at Hongkew Park.

At the Race Course the following teams will play: Police vs. B. A. T.; Rees vs. Jewish Rees; Engineers vs. Customs; Electricity Department vs. Football Club. At Hongkew Park—Rangers vs. Waterworks; St. Xavier's vs. Internationals; Navy vs. Public School.

Then the Football Club Reserves play the Rangers Seconds at the Race Course. St. John's University players are to journey to Shanghai College where they will probably lead the home eleven in the East China Intercollegiate Athletic Association series.

GOES TO SOOCHOW

The football team representing the Chinese Recreation Ground will invade Soochow University and meet the Varsity there for a spectacular fight in the afternoon. Captain Yao and his team leave on morning train and they will be escorted by the students there with a motor launch.

The team is composed of business men who, in their day, have shown some skill on the football field. Although they may lack practice and combination, they will not fail to show the ability of their earlier days. The game will start at 3:30.

The line-up will be as follows: C. H. Woo (goal-keeper); W. S. Yao (Capt.); Z. Y. Yu, T. T. Chang, Y. T. Har, (Full backs); T. S. Wang (Center-half); T. P. Wong, S. K. Chow (Half-backs); Zau Hank (Center forward); K. T. Soong, Y. T. Woo, Y. L. Har, C. D. Yang, K. S. Feng, K. T. Doo, and P. S. Sung (Forwards).

ROWING CLUBBERS PULL A SURPRISE BEATING GIAUQUE

Oarsmen Quintet Wins 40-32 From Public School In League Game

The Rowing Club pulled a great surprise last night, the oarsmen stepping out and then up to a 40-32 win over the Public School basketball team although the latter numbered among its members one Charles Giaque, who incidentally scored half the points made by his crew.

It was a Foreign League game but that didn't bother E. T. Nash, center on the Rowing Club. No sir, he just stepped here, there and everywhere and collected nine goals from the basket and a couple from the free-throw line—rather pretty total of 24 points, likewise half his team's total score.

The summary:

Leves rf L. G. Day
Johansson rf L. G. Day
Remedios c E. T. Nash
Caccia lg G. Day
Giaque rg H. Nash

Goals from floor: E. T. Nash 9, Giaque 6, Coughler 5, Lewis 4, L. G. Day 3, Johansson 2.

Matchmaking Easy In Old Days Few Real Fighters Now--Roche

In The Horton Law Regime The Star Bout Was Always Good, Says Veteran Referee

By JAMES J. CORBETT

Matchmaking in the days of the Horton Law was child's play in comparison with what the officials are up against in this era," declares Billy Roche, veteran referee.

"While the Horton Law was on the statute books, which was between 1896 and 1909, there were only two real fight clubs in New York City," said Roche. "One was the Lenox A. C., which had a seating capacity of about 3,100 and the other was the Broadway A. C., which had a clubhouse that could house over 5,000. The only other club operating in New York City was the Polo A. C., a small place, which gave shows only on Saturday nights."

"Brooklyn had two clubs—the Greenwood A. C. and the Pelican A. C. But they didn't figure much, as far as staging big bouts were concerned. So the only real fights in Greater New York were those put on at the Lenox and the Broadway."

"I was matchmaker for both organizations—and what an easy job it was. Anytime either club wanted to put on a show it was a cinch that it would be an all star bout. That's because in those days every rank of pugilism was cluttered with great fighters. It was almost a certainty that no matter what men were billed to fight each other in the star bout, they'd be so closely matched as to ability that the betting would be at even money."

EASY TO CHOOSE MEN

"Think of the heavyweights to choose from in making matches! Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, Sharkey, Maher, Ruhlins, Goddard, Choyinski, Armstrong, McCoy! And the welters! Joe Wolcott, Billy Smith, George Green, Owine Ziegler, Tommy Ryan, Rubo Ferns, Matty Matthews—and a dozen others! The lightweight group of that era embraced Joe

10,000 FAMINE VICTIMS SAVED BY ROAD WORK

Weihsien - Chefoo Highway Progressing Rapidly Under Relief System

(China Press Correspondence)

Weihsien, December 7.—A month has passed since the official inauguration of the Weihsien-Chefoo road and very rapid and good progress has been made. The point farthest north reached is Chang-I which lies about 25 miles (English) from the courthouse in Weihsien. More rapid work will be done the coming month because of the large numbers of workmen who are coming in every day from the famine regions contiguous to Tsinan. At present there are in the neighborhood of 10,000 men working in gangs all along the road.

The road from the Northeast gate of the East Suburb of Weihsien City is very well made and graded. The earth is shoveled from both sides of the road to make the drains and heaped in the center and then graded; the center of the road at the present time being about four feet above the ground level.

IS 25 FEET WIDE
The road itself is 25 feet wide with about five foot drains on each side. Although the road practically follows the old cart road to Chefoo there are places where the two are far apart because the modern road is a surveyed plan while the old road assumes the level of least resistance. So there will be many culverts and bridges to be built between here and Chefoo.

The first bridge is now being built over the first stream met outside of the East Suburb. Two piers have been commenced, one on either bank. Its about 6 ft. x 15 ft. x 15 ft. are dug to a depth of thirty feet below the surface of the road. This happens to be below water level in this place. These are then filled up with tamped Chinese concrete, (lime, sand, and earth) for about ten feet. On top of this are laid brick piers. The span to be bridged at this particular spot is about 100 feet.

FAMINE SUFFERERS SAVED
More men are coming to work every day. They all seem to be very well taken care of and look well fed and happy. They say they get plenty of nourishing food and enjoy their work. All the work being done by hand and in typically Eastern fashion even to carrying the mortar in handkerchiefs. All the work is superintended by experienced workmen and engineers and the job, except for the present softness of the road, very ably done.

Peking Notes

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, December 8.—The Japanese Legation is informed that the Japanese residents of Urga have already left the Mongolian capital under Chinese military escort and will arrive in Kalgan within the week.

Mr. Funatsu, Japanese Consul-General in Tientsin, has left for a month's leave in Tokyo. During his absence Mr. Ohaka, vice-consul, will be in charge of the Consulate-General.

Mr. Tokugawa, Secretary of the Japanese Legation, has returned from a visit to Tientsin, whether he went to discuss with Mr. Funatsu, Consul-General there, previous to the latter's departure on leave.

The Major-General Sato, who recently made a rapid anti-Chinese and anti-missionary statement from the War Office in an endeavor to excuse the Japanese atrocities in Chientao, is stated to be the Sato who was stationed as representative of the War Office in Geneva throughout the Great War. General Sato was recently recalled from Europe to assist the War Office in Manchurian matters, his knowledge of Manchurian affairs being large as he was, before the war, commander of Japanese troops in Manchuria with headquarters in Mukden.

Upon the outbreak of the Hung-chuan disturbances, and the decision of the Japanese War Office to send troops into Chinese territory, General Sato was despatched to Mukden to consult with General Chang Tso-lin regarding a scheme of Sino-Japanese military co-operation for the suppression of elements in the Chientao district considered by the Japanese government to be inimical to its interests and the security of the Empire. General Sato has only very recently concluded his mission at Mukden and returned to Tokyo, where he has issued his statement on behalf of the War Office.

General Sato has no connection with the commission under a Colonel of the army and which includes several civilians which was recently despatched to Chientao by the Tokyo government to investigate the reports of outrages by the Japanese troops. He is temporarily attached to the Chief of Staff in Tokyo.

The Japanese Legation, on instructions from its home government, is now drafting a reply to the Chinese Foreign Office's request for the withdrawal of Japanese troops.

ess troops acting as railway guards along the Chinese-Eastern line. The reply constitutes a refusal on the grounds that Japan must protect the route of communication with her troops in Siberia. The question of the railway guards is distinctly separated from that of the military pact, but the retention of the former will be indirectly connected with the abrogation of the latter.

New Clique Started By Premier Cause Of Political Storm

The attempt of Premier Chin Yung-peng to organize a political party ended in a storm recently. A meeting of Shantung Parliamentarians was called at the home of the premier who suggested that they should be prepared to organize for political purposes.

The meeting decided upon the name of the clique which was to be the "Li Yuan," a poetical name. When the parliamentarians came to the aim and purpose of the organization, however, one of the men present insisted on the insertion of the clause "for the support of the Central Administration," to which others objected. The objection was so strenuous that the meeting was adjourned.

Peking, Dec. 7.—In regard to the persistent Chinese reports to the effect that the Japanese Governor-General of Kwantung had gone to Harbin to arrange for taking under his jurisdiction as a civil establishment the Japanese military police force along the Chinese-Eastern Railway, members of the Japanese Legation state that they know nothing of either such a visit or such a purpose on the part of the present Chief of Civil Administration in Kwantung, the title of the Japanese governor, since the abolition of the Military Director-Generalship.

Follow Western World In Commerce, Advice Of Nieh To Chinese

Advance Of Orient In Business And General Progress Depends On Modern Methods, Says Speaker

Education of China's manufacturers, merchants and labor, and the encouragement of greater interest in national affairs were urged yesterday afternoon by Mr. C. C. Nieh, president of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, at a reception given him at the Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Nieh told of his observations made during a six-month trip to the United States and Europe and pointed out that China must follow the example of the Western World in education, industrialism and agriculture.

He deplored China's commercial downfall and asserted: "China will starve even without famine of war unless the people are educated mentally, morally and physically."

In discussing the famine Mr. Nieh suggested that every Chinese should contribute from five to ten percent of money earned and suggested the organization of a society to include those willing to make this sacrifice.

TELLS OF AMERICA

The speaker described the improvement of agriculture in America. He said that America is rearing silkworms twice as large as those of China and growing mulberry trees the size of which are ten times the size of the Chinese mulberry leaves. The trees are grafted on orange trees in order to make them give the greatest amount of output. An Armenian in one of the Southern States has 2,000,000 mulberry trees for sale, all of which had been cultured. American silkworms, by scientific feeding, can produce 16 different colors of silk, he said.

The speaker also discussed at length the wonderful improvement being made by the United States in fisheries, cattle rearing, orange-growing, banana planting and general farming.

WHAT CHINA LACKS

Against these improvements, Mr. Nieh pointed out the hopeless lack of education among the Chinese manufacturers, producers and merchants. "Today," he said, "China supplies only six percent of the silk on the American market, one percent of tea and no chinaware. Yet all these three articles formerly came from China alone."

"If China remains in this condition, her people will starve even without a famine or a war," said Mr. Nieh.

In discussing the importance of physical education for the people Mr. Nieh pointed out the emphasis laid on this branch of development by Great Britain, the United States, Germany and Japan. "Commercial and other successes depend in a great measure on the physical conditions of the men behind the scheme," he said.

NEED OF SACRIFICE

The need of a new spirit of sacrifice was brought out by Mr. Nieh in his concluding remarks. After describing the wonderful national spirit in America, he classified the Chinese people into two groups. First, those who do not care about how their own country is handled and, second, those who entertain a pessimistic attitude about the future of their country.

"If the nation is ever to be reconstructed," he said, "we must have a new spirit, a youthful spirit and buoyant hope for the future of the country."

Dr. C. T. Wang, president of the Y.M.C.A., presided and introduced Mr. Nieh, who was given an enthusiastic reception.

Among those present were Mr. Y. C. Tong, Mr. Julian Arnold, Mr. David Z. T. Yui, Mr. George A. Fitch, Mr. J. H. Geidhart, Mr. J. C. Clark, Mr. Chu Pao-san, Mr. S. U. Zau, Dr. H. C. Mei, Dr. Yuan, Mr. S. C. Chu, Mr. Bao Yien-hung and Mr. K. S. Zao.

Mr. Nieh will be guest of honor at a reception to be held by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

continues the bank's statement, has been extended from the original home of the ostrich, the wilds of Africa, to several countries having a suitable climate, and the United States, Argentina and Australia are gradually becoming rivals of the ostrich farmers of British, French and German Africa, which, however, still supply the bulk of the $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 worth of ostrich feathers annually entering world commerce. The imports of ostrich feathers into the United States alone since 1900 have aggregated nearly $60,000,000 and were immediately prior to the war running at about $6,000,000 per annum, but dropped to about one-tenth of that value in the closing years of the war.

Africa and Southern Asia were apparently the original home of the ostrich, but he is now only found in the native state in the little frequented regions of Central Africa. The ease with which he can be domesticated, however, led to the establishment of large ostrich farms in British, French and German Africa in the second half of the nineteenth century and their success soon led to similar experiments in the United States and later in Australia and Argentina. While the South African interests sought to prevent this, prohibiting the exportation of ostriches or their eggs, a limited number were brought to the United States as early as 1882 and established on farms in Southern California and Arizona, where they multiplied with such rapidity that the last shipment of ostriches or their eggs from Africa to the United States occurred in 1901, while the census of 1910 showed 5,261 ostriches in the United States with a valuation of $1,696,000.

In 1913 the number of ostriches was estimated at 8,000 and has presumably reached 10,000 or perhaps 12,000 at the present time, since the industry has extended from California to Arizona and into several of the Southern States, notably Texas, Alabama and Florida. The value of the capital invested has correspondingly increased. The industry wherever established has proved financially attractive, the profits of the South African farms being reported as high as 40 per cent on the investment of capital, while the value of a single bird of the high grades for breeding purposes runs as high as $500, and the value of the year's feather "crop" of a single male ranges from $25 to $100.

Africa still remains the most important place of the ostrich industry and the value of the feathers exported from British South Africa

OSTRICH FEATHER IMPORTS

Valued At $2,500,000 Last Fiscal Year—Crops of the World.

The value of ostrich feathers imported into the United States in the last fiscal year, says a statement by the National City Bank of New York, was $2,500,000, against a little over a half million in 1917, and three-fourths of a million dollars in 1918, and with this advance in demand and price the value of the 10,000 ostriches in the United States has correspondingly increased and runs well up into the millions of dollars.

Much Cotton Burns In Yangtzepoo Fire

Fire broke out in the Laon Kung Mow Cotton Mill, 40 Yangtzepoo Road, shortly before 5 a.m. yesterday, giving the Brigade a stubborn fight. A considerable quantity of cotton was destroyed but the damage to building and machinery was slight.

The outbreak occurred in the mixing room on the first floor and had not well into the cotton by the time the firemen arrived. The place was filled with smoke and about a quarter of the cotton in the bins at the back had to be removed, bringing small lines of hose and respirators into play.

There was small fire earlier in the morning at C297 Mukden Road where some trays placed too close to a charcoal warmer took light. A few buckets of water quelled the outbreak.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infant mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Kota Bahroe Estates Meeting

A resolution to authorize the directors of the company to reconstruct the Kota Bahroe Estate, Ltd., was passed yesterday at its tenth annual general meeting at the office of Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons. The resolution reads: "That it is in the opinion of this meeting desirable to reconstruct the company and that the directors be recommended to proceed with such reconstruction along the lines given in the circular to shareholders dated November 22, 1920."

Mr. A. W. Burkill presided. The notice convening the meeting and auditors' report having been read the chairman said: "Before commencing the business of the meeting, I would like to express the directors' great regret at the death of the former chairman of the company, Mr. E. Jenner Hogz."

The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read."

The report gives very full information regarding the affairs of the company and I have very few remarks to make in amplification of it.

DIFFICULT YEAR
The year has been a difficult one, labor difficulties and increased costs being among the troubles we have to contend with in the South, while at this end exchange rates throughout the year were very unfavorable and taking into consideration I think the profit of Tls. 52,084.96 for the year may be regarded as not unsatisfactory.

An area of 130 1/2 acres has been cleared at Canning Estate and the planting up of this is being proceeded with. There still remains at this estate a further considerable amount of suitable land and its development will be proceeded with at a favorable opportunity. Gunong Rapat is, as you are aware, fully planted and as regards Sikamat, apart from the fact that the directors intend to sell this property, there is only a small area suitable for extensions.

Kota Bahroe Estate has a large reserve of good land and the present aim of the company is to develop this land and that at Canning as quickly as labor conditions will permit.

The estimated output for the year was slightly exceeded. The f.o.b. cost is 1.62d. higher than the previous year, due to the generally enhanced cost of estate supplies and the loss on rice, and the estimates for the current year indicate that no reduction in costs can be expected.

Since the end of the year the company has disposed of an area of 1,200 acres at Kota Bahroe. The circular to shareholders fully stated the reasons for making the sale and I think there is no occasion to say anything further except perhaps to congratulate ourselves that negotiations for the sale were concluded before the serious depression in the rubber market occurred.

PROPOSED RECONSTRUCTION

With the report and accounts the directors have issued a circular regarding a proposed reconstruction of the company. Although exchange recently has become more favorable, the low price of rubber has more than offset this improvement, and the directors consider that the capital of Tls. 1,192,873.62 is far too high, amounting as it does at present exchange to over £200,000 and makes any prospect of a return to shareholders very remote. The proposed reduction to Tls. 390,000 is perhaps rather drastic, but the sterling equivalent at present exchange is £95,000, only £35,000 less than the original capital of the company.

Prospects at the moment are so unfavorable that the directors consider that any scheme of reconstruction should err on the safe side and assure as far as is possible the future position of the Company. At the present price of rubber there is of course a loss on working but a recovery would appear certain, and though exchange may again go against us, at a small margin of profit on rubber, the company on a capital of Tls. 390,000 will probably be enabled to make a return to shareholders.

BECOME CAPITAL ASSETS

As regards the balance sheet of profit and loss Account, the directors propose writing down the buildings and other perishable assets to the nominal figure of Tls. 1 each and carry forward the balance of Tls. 70,958.34. Should you decide on a reconstruction any surplus funds of the old company will of course become capital assets of the new one and cannot be distributed, and as the new company has a large amount in cash in the South the directors contemplated the payment of some return to the shareholders in the present company before liquidation. On further consideration, however, they have decided that under present conditions it is advisable to retain any surplus cash funds and they have no doubt that shareholders will agree with them.

The capital expenditure of future years will be then amply provided for and any profits made can be distributed.

After the formal resolutions are carried today, I intend to propose a resolution, notice of which has been given you in the circular, asking for an expression of opinion from this meeting, and the Directors hope that it will have your unanimous support.

The directors would like to express their appreciation of the good work done by the managers and staff during the past year.

Before proposing the first resolution, I shall be pleased to answer any questions shareholders may wish to ask.

There were no questions and the following resolutions were adopted unanimously.

"That the report and accounts for the year ended June 30, 1920, together with the recommendation as to appropriation of balance at credit of profit and loss account be adopted."

"That the appointment of Mr. A. W. Burkill as a director of the company be confirmed."

"That the appointment of Mr. N. G. Maitland as a director of the company be confirmed."

"That Mr. W. McMurray be re-elected a director of the Company."

"That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected auditors to the company at an annual remuneration of Tls. 400 for Shanghai and Penang."

The Chientao Atrocities

NEWSPAPERS all over the Far East are busily engaged in exposing the falsity of Major General Saito's attack, on behalf of the Japanese General staff, on the Christian missionaries of the Chientao district. Readers of THE CHINA PRESS probably are familiar with the details of the massacres of Korean Christians on Chientao territory by the Japanese soldiery, for in addition to the lengthy news accounts, giving the sworn statements of missionaries on the ground, we have discussed the outrages editorially.

The Peking and Tientsin Times of December 7 and the Peking Leader of the same date, bitterly exposed and excoriated the Japanese War Office for its attempt to blame the missionaries for its own evil practices. The first-named newspaper declared:

"The statement made by Major General Saito on behalf of the Japanese War Office, regarding the alleged atrocities by the Japanese forces in the Chientao region, a summary of which has been telegraphed from Tokyo, is just what one would expect if the investigations were left entirely in the hands of the Japanese Military. The Japanese Army, in the eyes of the General Staff, can do no wrong, even when its Commander in the field has to admit that the troops are so much out of hand that he dare not issue a safe-conduct to a foreigner. The despatch of a military mission of investigation, all of whose members were junior in rank to the Japanese General in command of the 'operations' in Chientao, was bound to lead to an attempt to whitewash the Army of Occupation.

"The Chientao atrocities demand something more than the routine whitewashing of a Japanese Military Commission, and unsupported libels issued from the Japanese War Office. If the Japanese people have any regard for their fair name, and for the honor of their Army, which is not the concern of the Army alone, but of the entire nation, they will insist upon a thorough investigation of recent events in the Chientao region by a Commission whose impartiality and whose authority are above suspicion.

The world is no longer prepared to accept at their face value the statements of Japanese Military officials in reply to allegations such as those which have been made regarding the conduct of the Japanese military in Chientao. When charges of barbarous conduct in regard to the suppression of the Korean Independence movement were made last year they were met in the same flippant manner. But that, as our readers may remember, did not prevent the British Government from making emphatic representations to Tokyo regarding the excesses of the Japanese Authorities in Chosen."

The Peking Leader joined in the hue and cry with the following:

"... And so Koreans whose homes, schools, churches and food-supplies have been burned, and who have been tortured, raped, murdered, heaped in piles and cremated, and whose very ashes have been scattered to the four winds, as in the worst days of Jesuitical inquisition, are told that they have China—poor, long suffering, easily-imposed-upon China—and the Christian missionaries, to blame for their sufferings!

"This is the logic which the Prussians tried to use when they endeavored to convince America that she had England to blame for all the drowning of American citizens and arson of American property committed against her by German agents. By their fruits ye shall know them, and by the grossness of his logic the militarist is revealed.

"Major-General Saito's statement is officially in response to the charges by missionaries of Japanese atrocities at Chientao. Does the Major-General forget that the uniformed representatives of his own people, who are presumably neither Missionaries nor Christians, in terms as sweeping as ever missionaries have used? The commission headed by a Tokyo editor charged indiscriminate killing of Koreans by Japanese soldiers. The Major-General admits speedy executions and house burnings, in such a way as to be tantamount to a confession that the Japanese military invaders of Chientao have acted too hastily and brutally to be covered by even their own militaristic code. The argument that China is responsible for this is too puerile to be worth refutation. As well might a burglar argue that your haste to rid your premises of his presence made you responsible for his murder of you.

"We call on the Japanese War Office for a fuller explanation of its statement that the missionaries who are now accusing the Japanese troops of cruelty are themselves the cause of the tragedy. The missionaries have substantiated their charges by dates and places and facts—let the Major-General who speaks for the War Office produce the same type of evidence in regard to his implication that the Christian missionaries are chiefly responsible for inciting the Korean people to run upon the Japanese sword.

"Japan allows full religious liberty," continues the statement, but cannot allow treason that threatens to undermine the foundations of the Empire. By what pipe-dreamed interpretation can the missionaries, or the Korean settlers of Chinese soil, who have been outside of Korean jurisdiction since a generation previous to Japan's protection of Korea, be said to commit treason against the Empire? Or is the Major-General referring not in particular to the missionaries of Chientao, but in general to those of Korea? If so, how does his charge square with the recent official declarations of the Korean government—general, and also, if we remember rightly, some statements of his own office, that the missionaries in Korea have not been primarily responsible for the disorders there? There is about as much consistency here as in the recent argument of a local Japanese organ that the charges of Japanese excess in Chientao were proved fabrications by the silence of the missionaries on the subject!

"The bitter tone and, what Reuter's aptly terms, rash expressions of the War Office statement, evidence a deep hatred of Christianity itself, which attitude, unfortunately, has of late been all too transparent in the military and predominant half of the ruling class in Japan. It is natural that the militarists should be impatient of any doctrine which rebukes him by its ideals of justice, liberty and democracy. But the militarist of Japan is already charged with a long enough list of crimes against humanity—he should take thought before adding this last and most intolerable, religious persecution."

All of which goes to show that when you are in the wrong it is the part of discretion to remain quiet.

Father's Agent

In a certain Sunday school on a Sunday afternoon one of the teachers became somewhat faint and was placed upon a bench while the usual restoratives were applied.

Suddenly a little girl stood up and persistently called:

"Teacher! Teacher!"

But she was unable to attract the attention of those who were attending the unfortunate lady.

At last, however, the little one was heard, and one of the teachers, turning round, demanded hastily and somewhat irritably:

"Well, what is it?"

"Please, teacher," the tiny tot replied, "my father sells coffin!"

Mutual Lassitude

"Why don't you teach that dog to do some tricks?" "I have tried," replied the man who lacked energy "The dog won't learn." "Not enough intelligence?" "Too much. I can see by the expression of his face that the dog doesn't see any more sense in the tricks than I do."

DREAMS THAT DON'T COME TRUE

Adolphus Idledecker had a singular propensity for winning great achievements in the wonderland of dreams. He'd climb the highest mountains; cross the desert's dry immensity.

And sail in every latitude upon historic streams.

He'd think himself a taipan with a Hongkong Bank prosperity.

And plan for entertainments both elaborate and strange.

His Sterling into dollars he would place with great hilarity.

Then wake to find his riches had been swallowed by Exchange.

He'd dream that in a house he had been comfortably billeted.

In Bubbling Well or on the Bund was living like a gent.

And then he'd find his dream had been both busted and all filleted.

The landlord had just been to call and doubled up his rent.

He'd dream he was a pugilist with singular temerity.

And challenge Georges Carpentier or Dempsey to a bout.

And in the ring he'd dance about with wonderful celerity.

But wake to find that wife from the bed had knocked him out.

ABOUT BOUTS

Georges Carpentier recently returned to the land that gave him birth after having visited America. While in the U.S.A. he and his manager entered into a literary fight—not a fight literally—with the result that early in 1921 he will have the pleasure of Dempsey's company, and at close quarters, for as long as one of them can keep out of the other's reach. It looks like a good thing for both men. One gets quite a nice little pile to combat the H.C.L., and the other gets a fortune.

This all leads up to one or two remarks about bouts.

Now it seems to me that at present young boxers merely go along the lines that all that is necessary is to grow a couple of good lefts (and one right left if possible), get measured for a few nobbly muscles, and then slip along to arrange a disappointment with Charles Cochran, or some other promoter, and endeavour to persuade him that he is a tight rope—I mean a White Hope, who can beat the band.

It is my intention to fill a long-felt want—as the man said when he drank his neighbor's lemonade—by giving a few helpful hints that will be very useful to me, as the editor insists on paying for this sort of stuff although you would probably not believe it. As to my qualification for this task, I would point out that I represented England at the Olympic—amongst the audience—and I have met Beckett twice, once at a railway station, and once at a theater, and very nearly spoke to him.

It should be pointed out that boxing is a very healthy exercise—for the audience. It is also healthy for the boxer, providing that he is not the loser. And even the loser, in the Dempsey-Carpentier ought to live healthy for some time after the bout. But it is worthy of note, from statistics that I collected while the Municipal Council was taking the last census, that boxers invariably live until they die.

There are two classes of boxers—professional and amateur. Professionals do it for a living. Nobody knows why an amateur does it.

In the old days boxers fought each other until one couldn't fight. This is proved conclusively by that wonderful old sport, Shakespeare, who wrote:

Lay on Macduff.

And damned be he that first cries "Hold, enough."

Nowadays the fight is advertised for four, ten, fifteen or twenty rounds. As a matter of fact one of the fighters usually has a train to catch, and so he takes his losses somewhere in the first minutes.

Most of you will know what a ring is. It is a square. It is the place in which you stand up to be knocked down. Since Georges came into the game the ring has also been the place into which the fair members of the audience throw their kisses and the men throw bricks.

The thing to do is to watch your opponent's left. Watch it very carefully, in fact tell him to

Gilbertian John Gay

His 'Beggar's Opera,' Heard In New York 170 Years Ago, Has Now Matched The London Record Of 'Lincoln'

(New York Times)

Strange figures of the past on the American stage are called up by the revival in a suburb of London, and a promised revival in New York, of an ancient work once brought from that capital to Colonial Manhattan probably 170 years ago. Entertainment in the form of the musical play had its beginning in New York in 1750, when "The Beggar's Opera" was first produced here, wrote H. E. Krehbiel in introducing his "History of the Philharmonic Society," and he referred to it more recently in his "Chapters of Opera," though with less certainty as to its date. It appeared in a period of seventy-five years, he added, during which English opera, mostly of the ballad type, light comedies with incidental music borrowed from the popular songs of the day, were the only musical pieces given in the New York theaters. These theaters were populated by English actors, and long before the Garcias came bringing Italian opera to this city some of the most popular singers of Great Britain crossed the ocean to seek fame and fortune in the New World.

"The Beggar's Opera" found its way to old New York in a forgotten Nassau Street Theater, lighted by candles, according to the "Chapters of Opera," after having, in all probability, been sung by the same company of comedians in Philadelphia. Lewis Hallam's company of actors went first to Williamsburg, Va. Later they planned a "permanent home" in New York, after the enterprising manner or custom followed by many managers since, by erecting a new theater in 1753 on the old Nassau Street site. There seems to have been a period of about fifteen years during which the musical drama was absent from the amusement lists, but the John Street Theater, opened in 1767, "echoed, like its earliest predecessors, to the strains of the ballad opera which 'made Gay rich and Rich gay.'"

LONDON SUCCESS

What is there in "The Beggar's Opera," as triumphantly revived, asked The London Telegraph recently, that today particularly appeals to the politician? This, it was not a holiday season conundrum, but merely a simple question suggested by the rather curious fact that within a few weeks the Lyric had been visited in turn, and the performance "greatly relished," by Mr. Balfour, who heard it twice, and by Mr. Asquith and Premier Lloyd George. "There is at least one Handel air among the jolly tunes incorporated in the present version of Gay's famous work. Did Mr. Balfour, as a complete Handelian, identify it?"

No theater "slump," said The Telegraph, has affected the fortunes of the all but two-century-old "Beggar's Opera." Indeed, at increased prices, the piece is played yet, practically all the time to capacity.

It has been the musical-dramatic surprise of the year, just as "Abraham Lincoln," at the same house, was the dramatic surprise of 1919. The cynic recalled the late Sir Herbert Tree's jest: "When is a repertory theater not a repertory theater?" "When it's a success."

The British revival, still current as late as October, began early in June when The London Times wrote of it with an approval inviting its consideration elsewhere. Why not in New York? "The beggars have come back to town," exclaimed the English critic on the opening, "and taken up their abode at the Lyric Theater, Hamersmith, where, to judge from the enthusiasm of their welcome on Saturday night, they should be able to disport themselves for as long as they will."

A table of the cast was headed "By Mr. Gay," in tribute to the author, John Gay, "one of the most eminent of secondary English poets," as the erudite Britannica declares, honored since his death in 1734 with a monument in Westminster Abbey. The Times said his opera was revived in the only way possible to revive it, with com-stand still while you watch it. Just keep your eye in it until your eye is full of it.

It should be pointed out that the old custom of putting a horse shoe in your glove, just for luck, is no longer permitted. It has been found that very often the horse shoe had been badly bent against some of the heads it has come in contact with.

By the way I wish publicly to deny the cruel rumor that has been floating about that I am prepared to meet the winner of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout. I am not prepared, and what is more I never shall be. I sincerely hope that both Dempsey and Carpentier will accept this assurance. I certainly have no wish to worry either gentleman. (With faint apologies to Thomas Tay of "Fragments") piece acceptance of its roguery and the irresponsible delight in a world filled with knaves but emptied of fools. "Unless indeed," it added, "Captain Macheath is a bit of a fool. Surely the hero of the highway falls a prey to the plots of Peachum and Lockitt and the lures of his numerous ladies a little too easily for a man of his experience."

Musically, too, the modern critic held the revival had taken the only possible course. The airs have been reset with dainty accompaniments which appeal at once to the modern ear, though the eighteenth century feeling is preserved by the use of appropriate instruments, strings, flute, oboe and harpsichord, all of which were played by an accomplished orchestra of women under Eugene Gossens's direction. Frederic Austin, as well as taking the part of Peachum, first of the triumphant villains, has been the Dr. Pepusch of today and has made the arrangement of the music.

"Only once or twice did we feel that his skillful treatment brought a touch of descriptive coloring into the music which was foreign to the original spirit of the thing, and such touches were not welcome. For the music of 'The Beggar's Opera' bears traces of every period from the undatable modal folk-song to the street song of the eighteenth century, and why should it not gain something from the twentieth? We should like, however, to have had Pepusch's overture complete with the slow movement which precedes the merry jig.

"The artistic virtues of the actors and singers were as impossible to catalogue as their moral vices. The comedy of Miss Elsie French as Mrs. Peachum stood out above all others, and Miss Sylvia Nellis's treatment of the part of Polly (a sly puss and no fool, for all her circumspect air) was in perfect contrast to the bevy of brazen hussies surrounding her. She and Mr. Ranslow gave the most delightful musical moments of the evening, particularly in their duet of 'Over the Hills and Far Away.' But if we should begin to pick out songs there would be no stopping, for the opera is a string of gems and every one made the most of the opportunities."

Nigel Playfair was the John Rich of this production, and was to be congratulated not only on having got together so admirable a company (for his success in that respect he made full acknowledgments to Sir Thomas Beecham in his speech at the close of the performance) but on the effective arrangement of simple scenery and dresses designed by C. Lovat Fraser. The first-night reviewer quoted the old bon-mot about "Rich" and "Gay" and concluded: "If there is any justice in this world (and 'The Beggar's Opera' declares that there is none) riches will continue to go hand in hand with gaiety in this new production."

GAY'S GILBERTIAN COMEDY

Oliver Goldsmith in his "Chinese Letters" in 1760, citing London's even then recurring talk of "Polly and the Pickpocket," complained of the popularity of "The Beggar's Opera" thirty-two years after its production. Partly a personal satire on Sir Robert Walpole, this work of Gay and Pepusch like those of Gilbert and Sullivan much later, dealt a blow at the absurdities of Italian opera. That form of entertainment was at the height of its extravagance when, on January 29, 1728, the English work was first brought out at Lincoln's Inn Fields.

There is evidence that the songs were by no means numerous when Gay drafted the piece, said The Times writer a week in advance of the revival. Such as they were, they were not intended to have the accompaniment of instrumental music. Singers have always been attracted to the piece, but it would be quite possible to do away with all the songs and act "The Beggar's Opera" as a comedy—a fierce kind of comedy, but a comedy all the same. Its leading character, the critic thought, would then be, not the highwayman, Macheath, but Mr. Peachum, the father of the innocent Polly.

In depicting Macheath, Gay may have had the notorious Claude Duval in mind. Certain it is that Peachum is the counterpart of Jonathan Wild, who was hanged at Tyburn in 1725.

Polly is the one decent person in a sea of infamy, a burlesque of the trusting heroine of Italian opera. But there is a Gilbertian touch about her, for, unlike the other women, the simple Polly has insisted upon marriage. Peachum is in a tremendous rage, and thus admonishes her: "You know, Polly, I am not against your toying and trifling with a customer in the way of business, or to get out a secret or so. But if I find out that you have play'd the fool and are married, you jade, I'll cut your throat, hussy." Then enters Mrs. Peachum, "in a very great passion," and with a short song in somewhat plain English ap-braids Polly for being married, whereupon Peachum asks: "Do you think your mother and I should have liv'd comfortably so long together if ever we had been married? Baggage!"

Mrs. Peachum remains "in a very great passion," but Peachum immediately thinks how best he can turn his daughter's marriage to account. That is to be accomplished by sending her husband to the scaffold. Polly protests that she loves Macheath, and could have no thought of parting with him. "Parting with him!" replies her father. "Why, this is the whole scheme and intention of all marriage articles! The comfortable estate of widowhood is the only hope that keeps up a wife's spirits. Where's the woman who would scruple to be a wife if she had it in her power to be a widow whenever she pleased?"

The Beggar, as author, introduces the piece. He does not come into the play until the conclusion, and is then only used as a means for relieving Macheath from Tyburn tree and so ending the opera with song and dance, quite in the modern method, to the tune of "Lumps of Pudding."

John Ireland, the biographer of Hogarth, tells that an Italian of his acquaintance "concluded a harangue calculated to throw Gay's taste and talents into contempt with: 'Safre, this simple signor did tri to pelt m countrymen out of England with lumps of pudding.'"

'BEGGAR' AND HIS BALLAD

"Sublimated Gilbert and Sullivan," said The London Spectator of the piece. "Its revival is more than a literary event. There is the Gilbertian wit, the Gilbertian capacity for inversion, while the charming airs to which 'The Beggar's Opera' is set surpass Sullivan for all his humor."

The Spectator, too, appended "a bold outline of the plot." The Beggar, it said, appears first in the "Introduction," giving his own account of the intention of the ensuing fables and Jests.

"This piece I own was originally writ for celebrating the Marriage of James Chanter and Molly Lay, two most excellent Ballad-Singers. I have introduced the Similes that are in all your celebrated Operas: The Swallow, the Moth, the Bee, the Ship, the Flower. Besides, I have a Prison Scene, which the Ladies always reckon charmingly pathetic. As to the Parts, I have observed such a nice impartiality to our two Ladies that it is impossible for either of them to take Offense. I hope I may be forgiven that I have not made my Opera throughout unattractive, like those in vogue, for I have no Relative; excepting this, as I have consented to have neither Prologue nor Epilogue, if must be allowed an Opera in all its Forms."

It is of the two "ladies" mentioned that the enamored Captain Macheath sings the most celebrated of the songs—

How happy would I be with either,

Were't other dear Charmer away.

The Spectator said the acting at the Lyric in Hamersmith was "brilliant to an extraordinary degree, the singing delicious."

That "The Beggar's Opera," when first acted nearby in London over 190 years ago, was a piece "full of Court and party scandal, written in a loose effeminacy of style and appealing to the debauched taste of the better vulgar," the critic, finally, would freely admit.

"But happily corrupt works of art, like crude and heady liquors, lose their bad qualities by age and keeping. A fierce brandy, a hundred years old becomes mild and agreeable. So Gay's opera, in the day capable of debauching the debauched, will now do no harm and increase the gaiety of the town," he concluded.

EXTRA FARE ON STEAMERS, PLAN FOR FAMINE AID

Ningpo Committee Works Out Scheme To Raise Funds For Sufferers

(China Press Correspondence) Ningpo, Dec. 8.—Yesterday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. the Committee for Famine Relief held its monthly meeting. Mr. Carey, the Commissioner of Customs presided. It was voted to ask the three large steamship lines which have regular passenger service between Ningpo and Shanghai to assess each passenger a certain amount according to the class of ticket to assist in the famine relief fund.

The amounts to be asked from each class of ticket is as follows: first class foreign, $1; first class Chinese, 2 dimes, second class, one dime; third class, five coppers. It is estimated that if this goes into effect the amount collected from one trip of all three ships will approximate $150. This will help very materially in the raising of funds.

This is not to apply on fares from Shanghai to Ningpo but only to Shanghai from Ningpo.

The Executive Committee of the Famine Relief Association was greatly strengthened by the addition of the names of the Tao-yin, the Commissioner of Customs, the Bishop of the French Catholic Mission and one or two others of prominence here in Ningpo.

It was further voted to send out a call for old clothes of all descriptions, such contributions to be sent to the Y.M.C.A. as a central receiving station, where they will be later sent to the Committee in Shanghai.
